LINTON ALEXANDER

Position:
Midfield/Forward
Country:
England
Born:
London, England
Previous Club:
Leyton Orient

Profile: Linton has been in the game since the late eighties. He has played at the highest level in England and Italy. After performing well here in England, Linton secured a massive move to Italy. There, he was seen hailed as a hero, some say he was in the mould of Luther Blisset. However, he began to lose form and after losing a regular first team place, he moved back to England to play for his local club Charlton Athletic. Whilst at Charlton, Linton enjoyed the success of promotion, he also began to find the form he once had in Italy, but just as this was happening, a tragedy occurred as his son was hit by a car. Linton 'fell off the wagon' and almost lost everything, he lost his wife and almost lost his career. He was released by Charlton and later found himself resurrecting his career at Leyton Orient. Lintons' brother, Curtis, was enjoying success with French club PSG. Whilst Harchester originally intended to buy Curtis, the found themselves buying Linton! This has been a blessing in disguise though because Linton has once again hit top form.
