Message from the Chairman of STFC

On behalf of myself and the board of directors at Shrewsbury Town FC, it is with great pleasure that I welcome you all to the Gay Meadow for this special occasion.

It was with obvious sadness when we learned of Simon's illness, however he has shown immense courage and strength that we can only stand back and admire and learn from.

I welcome back all the old Shrewsbury Town players who were even my heroes when they played here and hope they depart with many more happy memories from today's game.

We also welcome Andy Ansah and Harchester United from Sky One's Dream Team. We hope the people of Shrewsbury have made them welcome to our town and club and trust they too will leave with fond memories.

Welcome from Gordon Taylor

(Professional Footballer's Association)

The Keep Your Eye On The Ball campaign was set up by the Professional Footballer's Association and the Football Association to raise awareness of the dangers of male cancers, in particular testicular and prostate cancers, to football players and their supporters.

I would like to say a big thank-you to everyone involved with the Keep Your Eye On The Ball campaign, and in particular, on this occasion, Simon Shakeshaft, the physiotherapist here at Shrewsbury Town FC, who has worked so hard to make this event come together to be the success that I'm sure it will be.

Simon has over come tremendous adversity battling against the same cancer that has afflicted the likes of Alan Stubbs, Jason Cundy, Neil Harris and Craig Forrest. We know that football is not immune to the perils of this disease and the strength and courage that these men have committed to fighting cancer is both humbling and inspirational.

I hope both Shrewsbury Town Old Boys and the Dream Team have a great game of football, enjoy themselves and succeed in raising the spirits of supporters and funds and awareness for the campaign.

I wish you all a great day.
